Abstract

The existence and progress of human society depends to a large extent, on the cooperation and utilization of group efforts to accomplish certain societal objectives. In fact, the development of human society and the concomitant increase in the number of societal problems has shown clearly that men have to intensify efforts and ideas to manage and cope with their fast-growing and changing society. Moreover, maintenance of peace and prevention of crime was felt in the society which gave birth to public administration. Without public administration, the government cannot operate and manage own activities effectively and efficiently. The present study is an attempt to find out the situation of Public administration in Jammu and Kashmir as separate subject for study. It has been recognised that Jammu and Kashmir is the only state of India where public administration is not being taught in any school, college or university. The state has a good number of educational institutions offering numerous courses but public administration has been kept out. The government of Jammu and Kashmir has not shown any sincere effort regarding the implantation of public administration as separate subject for study. Finally the paper will suggest some measures so that public administrations can be implemented in J&K as a separate subject for study.
